1) Quebec Government

The Quebec Government House in New York is the official representative of the Quebec Government in the United States of America. This mission is headed by a Delegate General who is appointed specifically by the Executive Branch (the Cabinet of Ministers). He is the only authorized individual to act as governmental representative in United States.

He is responsible for the administration of the House and its Branches and acts as official agent for all Quebec governmental agencies with the Securities Exchange Commission.

January 1975

The Delegate General met with editors of Forbes Magazine and organized, at their request, a tour of Quebec and interviews with a number of officials, businessmen and labour leaders. In turn, Forbes published an extensive study on the Quebec economy.

On the occasion of the inaugural Air Canada flight between New York and Quebec City, "Quebec City Week" was proclaimed by Mayor Beame and an exchange of gifts was entertained between the New York authorities and the Honourable Claude Simard, Minister of Tourism, and Mayor Gilles Lamontagne of Quebec City. Later on, the Delegate General hosted a reception at Quebec House.

The Honourable Raymond Garneau, Minister of Finance, spent two days in New York, visiting the banking community and reporting on Quebec's economy.

February 1975

The Delegate General conducted a mission, headed by the Minister of State for Transportation, Mr. Paul Berthiaume, to the municipal authorities of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The Delegate General hosted a reception in honour of the Quebec exhibitors attending the annual New York Gift Show. Some seventy people attended, including buyers and trade editors.

The Delegate General was a guest of City Hall on the launching of "French Week" in New York City.

March 1975

Some eight professors of Quebec universities gave lectures to various faculties, feature films were shown and the Quebec cuisine was widely displayed on the campus. A Quebec Government gift of some four hundred books was accepted by the Olin Library.

A mission of the Quebec Commission on Organized Crime visited both the Senate and the House in Washington to investigate the aspects of televising various committees sessions. This mission was headed by the Delegate General.

The Honourable Minister of Finance, Mr. Raymond Garneau and his aides visited Wall Street on the occasion of a new Quebec bond issue for $100,000,000. It was then announced that Moody's had reclassified the Quebec's rating as AA.

The Delegate General also hosted some three hundred American guests on the occasion of the Shoe Fair at the Plaza Hotel and of Montreal Mode '75 held at the Canadian Club of New York.

2. Department of Intergovernmental Affairs

During the past six months, our economic counsellors were absent from the office more often than ordinarily within the framework of the FANTUS Study. (FANTUS is a firm which was commissioned by our Department of Trade and Commerce in Quebec to prepare a program of industrial promotion). The Information Service was therefore called upon to take over during these absences on the occasion of first-hand inquiries. Such inquiries were received from both Americans and Quebecers. They pertained to industrial implantation and other American investments in Quebec and to the export of Quebec products towards the United States.

Several surveys were made for various departments of the Quebec Government, namely:

- 1) A study on telecommunication systems in the U.S.A. as compared to the other countries;
- 2) A study of the cost of living in the U.S.A.;
- 3) Researches with various schools and other organizations connected with physically handicapped persons, mentally retarded persons and social misfits;
- 4) A research with various states concerning highway regulations and the bilateral agreements that exist on the subject between the various states and the province of Quebec.

Other studies were carried on for the benefit of American newspapers and magazines which were preparing articles or reports on Quebec.

On behalf of American proprietors of real estate in Quebec, we approached three Quebec School Boards and Municipalities because of accounts under dispute.

The ratification of Bill 22 (French Language Act) gave rise to a flow of questions namely from American businessmen, teachers, divorced parents of children residing in Quebec, etc.

We helped arrange an exchange of students between Ward Melville High School, Setauket, N.Y. and the Régionale Lapointe of Jonquièrre, Québec.

Several requests were received by this service pertaining to the measures taken by the Quebec Government to fight air and water pollution in the province.

A member of the Information Service was present at the opening ceremonies of the Quebec Week at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York during the first week of March. Information collected during a lecture delivered to Cornell students by an official of our Department of Cultural Affairs in Quebec will be very helpful to this office. This first contact at Cornell was a huge success.

We organized a joint participation of this service and the Department of Education in Quebec to the Northeast Conference on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. Our Department of Education delegated two members of their staff to inform visitors on our education system in Quebec and answer other pertinent questions. This event took place from April 9 to April 13, 1975 at the New York Hilton Hotel.

Inquiries received at this office at the rate of between 150 to 175 per month (mail, telephone and visitors) covered the most varied subjects such as:

- Education, culture, immigration;
- Fiscal policy, taxes, investments;
- Lists of Quebec manufacturers, bankers, real estate brokers, etc.;
- Quebec Statutes, civil code, highway code, municipal code;
- Lists of boarding schools, summer camps, private schools, etc.;
- Student exchanges and visits;
- General documentation, photographs and posters;

The Information Section looked after publicity material of the Economic Section and Information Section as well as subscriptions and book purchases for this office.

During the above period, we acquired seven new books of Quebec literature for the library and prepared fifteen press reviews.

The Marketing Consultant of the Tourist Department has continued his work with the public relations and newspaper people in his territory during the first six months of 1975.

He has continued to help wholesale operators to package tours in the off-season by suggesting new and as yet "untapped" areas to these operators. The Sorel area with its cruises is one such area.

He has expanded the tourist market to include incentive travel and has worked with several companies to create exciting "fam tours" for the clients of these companies in order to sell Québec as an incentive destination.

In the Florida and Atlanta areas, he participated in ski promotion to Québec for groups of people coming from the major cities in these areas. He has been attempting to send as many people to Québec to ski as come from Québec to vacation in Florida.

During the month of April, he participated in a promotion held at a highly "trafficked" complex in the city which was sponsored by the City of Montréal Public Relations Department. A scale model of the Olympic City was sent down and was exhibited for about a week.

The Tourist Department has been busy, as well, filling requests for information about Québec as the summer season approaches and as a result of the aforementioned promotion which brought to the attention of many people in New England the close proximity of Montréal as the site of the 1976 Olympic Games. In all approximately 1000 requests for information have been processed.

During the period January-June 1975, the Québec Government Office in Chicago continued to receive inquiries and to disseminate information on various aspects of Québec politics and society. In the framework of the Canadian Studies Program at Northwestern University, the Director of the office was able to meet informally with students interested in Canada, as well as with visiting Canadian professors. He also represented Québec at a luncheon given by the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry in honor of foreign government representatives in Chicago.

2) Department of Intergovernmental Affairs

The Chicago office is acting as liaison in helping to solicit the support and cooperation of various Québec agencies in a project to recreate LaSalle's expedition from Montréal to New Orleans. The office also helped to obtain from the Department of Education, French textbooks which were used in a teachers' seminar organized by the Association for Canadian Studies. The Director of the office interviewed a Frenchman studying in Chicago who was subsequently accepted as a coopérant at CRIQ. The visit to Chicago of a representative of the Department, and the meeting of heads of mission in Québec, afforded the opportunity for a dialogue concerning the nature and scope of the office's role in cultural and para-consular activities.

3) Department of Industry and Commerce

One Midwest company with which the office has been working is building a 100,000 sq. ft. plant in Québec, and nine others are seriously studying the feasibility of establishing manufacturing facilities in the Province. The office sent out 350 letters and distributed 130 studies in connection with the Fantus project. To help promote and expand on Québec's participation in the Material Handling Institute Show, the Economic Counsellor wrote to the executives of the 250 American companies exhibiting in the Show, inviting them to meet with Québec government representatives to discuss possible investment or joint ventures in Québec. More than 20 companies responded to this invitation, and we are pursuing discussions with these prospects, as well as with 8 other Midwest companies looking for Canadian partners and 2 Québec firms seeking association with American companies. The office helped coordinate a reception given in Chicago by the Montréal Urban Community to present their city to local bankers and businessmen.

The Commercial Counsellor helped organize 3 technical missions which brought Québec manufacturers to major expositions in Chicago, where we helped them contact potential subcontracting clients and buyers. He also helped coordinate and/or promote Québec exhibitors' participation in 5 other major shows in various fields (furniture, food, apparel, etc.). The Commercial Counsellor is working with two important stores which are considering Québec apparel promotions. The office provided assistance to 20 Québec companies interested in selling their products in the Midwest, and to 4 companies seeking American suppliers. A new Commercial Counsellor was hired to help handle the office's increasing volume of commercial and licensing projects, and to expand the services it offers to Québec manufacturers.

4) Department of Tourism, Fish and Game

The office is working in collaboration with Montgomery Ward's Auto Club, official ticket agents for the United States, in promoting the 1976 Summer Olympic Games to be held in Montréal. We have sent out some 50 information kits in response to inquiries about the Olympics. The tourist counsellor participated in three major travel trade shows in the Midwest, at which some 1300 travel agents were introduced to the advantages offered by the Province of Québec in the travel field. He also contacted 70 major tour wholesalers in this area to promote the development of package tours to Québec. Three of the firms contacted have already established new packages and he is working with three others on Québec tours. The office organized a highly successful trip to Québec for some 93 members of the Chicago Society of Association Executives. These executives visited the convention facilities of Montréal and Québec and sampled some of the Province's attractions. The tourist counsellor established contact with 15 Chicago area travel writers, and organized tours of Québec for 7 of these journalists. The Spring-Summer Newsletter apprised some 500 travel agents in the Midwest of the various special attractions and activities available in the Province, inspiring some 40 inquiries. The office handled approximately 500 requests for travel information from both travel agents and the general public.

DALLAS

1) Quebec Government

The Director of Exploration and Development of SOQUIP (Société Québécoise d'Initiative Pétrolière) was delegated by his President to attend the annual convention held in Dallas, in April, of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. A.A.P.G. had sent a special invitation to the President of SOQUIP.

2) Department of Intergovernmental Affairs

Under the auspices of the Department of Intergovernmental Affairs, the Economic Counsellor of the Québec Government Office in Dallas, attended the annual meeting of the heads of post, in Québec City, at the end of May.

3) Department of Industry and Commerce

Industrial Development

Due to the economic set-back which has prevailed, the expansion projects of the major companies contacted during this last semester seem to be at a standstill for the present. However, the outlook towards future development remains optimistic. We have contacted again during the past six months, 61 firms and opened 22 new files on companies interested in the possibility of setting-up manufacturing operations in Québec. One large company from Dallas, is projecting an expansion of their Québec subsidiary, which would require an investment of approximately two million dollars. A trend seems to be developing among U.S. companies, toward opening sales offices in Montréal, the ultimate goal to establish manufacturing operations in our Province, depending on the growth of the market.

Trade promotion

Sponsored by our Department of Industry and Commerce, various groups of manufacturers from Québec, attended the following shows and exhibitions:

- 1) National Association of Home Builders, held in Dallas in January
- 2) Exhibition of Manufacturing Services, held in Atlanta, Ga. in March
- 3) Supermarket Institute Show and Convention, held in Dallas at the beginning of May
- 4) Offshore Technology Conference, held in Houston, Tex. in the second week of May

5) Forest Products Machinery and Equipment Exposition, held in Atlanta, Ga., in early June.

4) Department of Tourism, Fish and Game

Numerous requests for travel information and tourist brochures on Québec keep reaching our office at an increasing rate. These come from travel agencies, as well as individuals or associations holding their annual meetings in Montréal and Québec City. Approximately 100 various requests were handled by our office, including many on the forthcoming 1976 Olympics, with regards to general information, hotel accommodations, game sites, etc. Various brochures on the subject were distributed.

With the inauguration in July of Air Canada direct flight to Toronto, from Dallas/Forth Worth Regional Airport, we are convinced that tourist inquiries will increase considerably.

Sent a Cajun Band, the Bayou Drifters, to Québec City's Mardi Gras. Organized concert tour of Willie Lamothe, Québec country and western singer in French. Supervised application of projects agreed upon at above Québec-Louisiana meeting; i.e. 80 young Québec teachers for September; 200 Louisiana teachers and students for summer programs in Québec (Jonquière) 115 older Québec teachers for summer programs at LSU-Baton Rouge; sufficient number of Québec supervisors for young teachers. Organized and carried out two missions from Québec's Land and Forests Department, i.e. Cadastral Survey and Private Forests. Truly, these two missions were the object of extensive care by the Louisiana Government's Intergovernmental Relations Commission without whom the definite success obtained would have been much smaller. Organized and carried out a tour of 12 elementary schools in seven parishes (counties), by "Le Théâtre des Pissenlits", a children's theatrical group. Showed a film, "Taureau", to students and French teachers in Baton Rouge and Lafayette.
